

BINDWEED

This non-native plant, sometimes called wild morning glory, can become a serious weed if left uncontrolled. It grows close to the soil, inhibiting other desirable native plants and reducing plant diversity. Bindweed has a deep taproot and is best removed by digging.