

SCOTCH THISTLE

This aggressive plant can quickly take over both disturbed and unattended areas, outcompeting native species, reducing plant diversity and wildlife habitat. It is difficult to eradicate. Scotch thistle is becoming a problem along the course of the Rio de Flag. You may need a shovel and gloves to cut the taproot 2 to 3 inches below the surface.